ABOUT

For the second year in a row, the Semiahmoo Fish and Game Club (SFGC) has teamed up with Penmar Community Arts Society (Penmar) to raise funds for a new hatchery building through the Salmon Sessions Music Festival.

The current hatchery building has been subjected to years of flooding over its nearly 40-year history. During the devastating atmospheric river floods of 2021, the hatchery was further damaged and tens of thousands of fish eggs were destroyed when the building was under three feet of water.

SFGC is planning to construct a new building on higher ground – safe from the flooding hazards of the future. As well, it will modernize its equipment and operating systems to grow even more. It is estimated that each year, the SFGC hatchery releases an additional 100,000 salmon into the river system – over the past 40 years that equates to approximately 35 - 40 million salmon.

Now that's a conservation story!

Salmon Sessions Music Festival, August 24, 2024

Salmon Sessions is a vibrant Music Festival supporting the SFGC's vital salmon hatchery initiative. As a dedicated volunteer-driven, non-profit society for 66 years, SFGC has sustained the Little Campbell Salmon Hatchery, a key component of British Columbia's food security. With the current hatchery approaching the end of its life cycle, urgent support is needed to construct a new facility.

Festival attendees will not only have an amazing music experience but will also learn about Little Campbell Hatchery's fascinating operations. Enjoy the serene beauty of the property with a leisurely walk along the river, and enthusiastic volunteers will be providing guided hatchery tours. Bring your lawn chairs and dancing shoes for a memorable day!

THE LOCATION - PART OF SURREY'S HISTORY

The Semiahmoo Fish & Game Club was incorporated in 1957 by a group of conservation-minded people who resided in the White Rock, Surrey and Langley area.

The primary focus of the group was the restoration of the local Little Campbell River, which had been damaged by years of unregulated gravel removal in the watershed. For the next 23 years, club volunteers not only worked to restore the river and its tributaries, but also raised funds with the vision of acquiring land on their beloved river.

The Clubhouse is very popular for hosting weddings and celebrations of life in addition to other special events. The goal is to grow Salmon Sessions as an annual event.

PENMAR COMMUNITY ARTS SOCIETY

Our mission is to fund and facilitate the future of live music and we do that by creating great live music experiences for the benefit of artists and audiences and the local economy. We work with various community partners and advisors in the live music industry in BC and Canada. A registered charity, we also provide job opportunities for youth interested in gaining work experience in the business of arts and culture.

Since 2017 we have produced and supported over 200 community concerts and events. We want to establish an annual event for the South Surrey market that has room to grow and provide a great day out as well as support a community service.

SEMAHMOO FISH AND GAME CLUB

On June 23, 2023, the Semiahmoo Fish and Game Club ~ and its Little Campbell Hatchery, celebrated 66 years since it was incorporated as a not-for-profit Society.

What started out as a dream for a group of conservation-minded people interested in the outdoors has evolved into an active volunteer-run organization with over 700 members that features a hatchery, indoor firearms range as well as indoor and outdoor archery target ranges.

There is also a banquet-styled hall that over the decades has been a favoured choice for many a wedding and other celebrations. There are well-signed nature trails along the Little Campbell River that runs through the Club's 29-acre property.
